CONDITIONS OF SALE.

This is a bona-fide public sale, for prompt cash settlement, and irresponsible persons who are not sure whether they can pay for what they bid on, are asked not to bid. The cataloguer has taken special pains to describe each lot accurately. Errors will be corrected, but he reserves the sole right to decide upon any claims. No corrections or refunds will be made, and no lots can be returned, unless the bidder submits his case in writing within 30 days of the date of the sale.

Coins and medals are sold at so much per PIECE, and no lot will be separated. The auctioneer will accept any bid up to 50c., then 5c up to $2.50, when 10c. advance must be bid, up to $10.00, when no advance under 50 cents will be accepted. If there are 5 pieces in the lot and you wish to pay $5.00 for the entire lot, then bid $1.00.

Auction sales are strictly for cash. Parties unknown to me and bidding for the first time, must give bank or other reliable reference, or their bids will not be executed.

Forward your bids as early as possible, as thousands of bids have to be entered. Do not make ridiculously low bids, such as 10c. and 15c. on foreign silver coins worth several times over as bullion. Write your bids plainly, with a pen if practicable.

Where the number of pieces in a lot is not given after the description, there is but one piece in the lot.

Be sure you bid on the lot you wish to buy.

All coins, etc., are genuine unless otherwise described.

A charge of 5% will be made to cover packing and shipping, but where the parcel is bulky an additional packing charge will be made. No charge made for bidding except for lots actually purchased. Remit by money order or New York draft.

If any further information is required as to valuation of lots, or how to bid, please write the cataloguer, THOMAS L. ELDER.

Ink—Priced Catalogue of This Sale, $3.50.—Printed, $1.50.

PREFACE.

The late Henry C. Miller, Esqr., was born on May 19th, 1844. He was educated at, and graduated from, Williams College in 1867. His death occurred very suddenly on February 5th this year. As a numismatist, he must be considered one of the best in America. From his unostentatious and quiet manner one was not apt to imagine to what a wide extent he had entered into this pursuit of Numismatics. Feeling no doubt that his end might come at an unexpected moment he had for the past half a dozen years gradually offered the various series in which he was interested, selling them all through myself in my sales. I always regarded it as an especially high compliment that I retained from a first acquaintance with Mr. Miller, some fifteen years ago, his fullest confidence. So that it was no great surprise to learn that shortly before his death he had told his sister, Miss Miller, that if anything happened to him to take his collection at once to me for disposal at auction sale. The notations he left on some of his coin envelopes showed that as early as the '70s he had purchased some of the coins offered in this very sale. His classical tastes lead him into the realm of education, and he once was the principal of a private school in this city. As early as forty years ago he had made trips to Europe, and on those trips had gathered coins from all quarters, from Rome to London, and from Paris to Thebes. The magnificent set of heavy early Ptolemaic bronze coins in this sale was obtained by Mr. Miller personally in Thebes. His interest in English coins, and especially in the early Anglo-Saxon issues, was very keen and the remarkably fine and large collection of these, including many of the very rarest issues, shows to what an extent he indulged in their collection and study. A brief list of some of the rarest of the early English silver pennies in this collection shows the following monarchs represented: Offa, Coenwulf, Coelwulf, Burgred, Cuthred, Wulfred, Coelnoth, Eadmund, Siefried, Cnut, St. Peter, St. Edmund, Egbert, Aethelwulf, Aethelbert, Aethelred I, Alfred the Great (quite a number), Edward The Elder (with two perhaps unique), Aethelstan, Aedmund, Eadred, Eadwig, Edgar, Harthacanute, Harold I, Harold II, etc. The mediaeval and later British coins present an unbroken line of rulers from Edward The Confessor down to George V. The copper coins, dating from the reign of Elizabeth, are especially choice for rarity and preservation and include two different uncirculated farthings of Anne, also some choice patterns of the Georges. The Georgian half pence and farthings present the best lot I have yet seen, with a proof half penny dated 1729, as well as the error farthings and half pence of Charles II, George II and III, all of which are mentioned in Montagu's Book on the subject of British Copper Coins. The ancient Roman section is perhaps the most important of all, for it contains over a thousand catalogue lots of coins with many well known and finely preserved examples of the denarius, the first, the second and the smaller bronzes. Unusual things are plentiful and a list of the most remarkable includes coins of Antony and Cleopatra, Brutus ("Eid Mar" denarius), Julius Caesar (many varieties), Pertinax, Didius Julianus, Pescennius Niger (2 varieties, both extremely fine), Titiana (second bronze), Gordianus Africanus, Sr. and Jr., Tranquillina, Quietus, Marius, Magna Urbica, Nigrinianus, Domitius Domitianus, Romulus, Hanniballianus, Vetranio, Jovianus, Procopius, Eugenius. Flavius Victor, Jovinus, Theodahatus, Gunthamundus, Theodoric, Witiges, and many unusual Byzantine pieces. There are a host of third and smaller bronzes of about all the late emperors with many uncirculated.

The feature of the American Colonial and Continental coin collection is, first of all, the magnificent collection of the coins of Connecticut, with four varieties of the Granby Three Pences of John Higley. The Connecticut series was a special favorite with Mr. Miller, and his book on the subject, about to be printed by the American Numismatic Society, is the result of his interest in this group. His collection has in it choice examples of the Sommer Island coins, the Lord Baltimore Shilling and Six pence, the Chalmers Annapolis Three Pence, (an uncirculated example); an extremely fine Carolina Elephant Half Penny, the Superior of the one I sold in 1907, in the Gschwend Sale; a large collection of the Massachusetts issues with a plentiful line of the N.E., Oak and Pine-Tree Coins, and some choice cents and half cents of that state. The Fugios, Nova Constellatios (with one proof), the New York cents, the large collection of Pennsylvania half pence, the Vermonts, the New Jerseys and the fine Washington Collection of coins and Patterns, all contribute to make one of the finest coin sales ever held in the United States.

The few remaining choice books include a full set of Cohen's last edition, a set of Babelon's work on Roman coins, Crosby's Early Colns of America and other desirable items. All coins are guaranteed genuine.

In order to not crowd the selling, and to make deliveries more simple, the sale will be held in four sessions, on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 26th, 27th, 28th and 29th, commencing each day at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The terms will be strictly cash, and the sale conducted as per the requirements printed in the catalogue giving full particulars as to its conduct. The catalogue has been conscientiously compiled exclusively by myself, and considering the rather short time allowed for its preparation, I hope it will be found of interest, and something worth keeping for future reference.

SECTION I.

EARLY BRITISH COINS.

Note.—According to Ruding, the earliest coin which can be attributed to any British monarch, bears upon it the letters SEGO, possibly for Segonax. He was one of four petty Kentish monarchs who by the command of Cassivellan, attacked Caesar's camp upon its second invasion of Britain. But there is no doubt that the Britons had coins of their own prior to Caesar's time, and the early staters and copper pieces give certain evidence of having been copied after Greek models, particularly those of Philip II of Macedon, the same influence which is seen in the curious Gaulish tetradrachms. So the rude horses pictured on the following coins were mainly poor imitations of Philip's coins. Roman letters and figures are found also. After Cunobeline's time the British coins disappeared while Britain was under Rome's dominion.

12.50 1 Gold Stater. A rude horse to right. over it jumbled letters and dots; underneath, a large dot. Reverse plain and uninscribed, as issued. Evans B. 8. Extremely fine. Very rare. Plate. See Ruding Pl. I. 3, and Hawkins, Pl. I. 1.

ANGLO-SAXON KINGDOMS.

Regarding the following remarkable set of silver pennies, Ruding states that the term Penny was first mentioned in the Laws of Ina, King of the West Saxons, who began to reign in A.D. 688. The word Penny is written in several ways, and its form, but not its type, was adopted from the Carl ovingian Denier. The Saxons valued it at the rate of 240 to a pound of silver. This number would give 24 grains for each coin. Large sums were computed by Pennies alone. Finds of early English pennies have been made at various times. Some rulers or varieties are exceedingly rare, or unique, and valued up to around a thousand dollars apiece. We offer in this collection the best lot which has ever been offered to the American market at public sale, and collectors should take full advantage of their opportunity.

SERIES II. MONEY OF NECESSITY, 1689-1691.

Popularly Known as "Gun Money."

Note.—According to B. M. Hand-book its value was merely nominal, and the issue was not to be continued for any length of time. The metal in old brass cannon was used in their manufacture, whilst in Ireland the popular name was "Brass Money". any of the Crowns were restruck on the large half crowns. The gun money issued during the four months from July to October, 1690, was coined at Limerick by James's adherents. The six pence was the earliest of this coinage and was first struck in 1689. See illustrations in British Museum Handbook Plates LXII and LXIII; also Mailliet's Monnaies Obsidionales Et De Necessite Pl. LXI. While the B. M. Handbook gives June as the first month in 1689 that the six pence was struck, which denomination it further states was the earliest one of these coins struck, kindly note that we have in this collection a six pence clearly dated January, 1689, and others of earlier dates than June, 1689. SECTION II.

THE COINS OF ANCIENT ROME.

SILVER COINS OF THE ROMAN REPUBLIC.

OF DENARIUS SIZE UNLESS OTHERWISE STATED. THE COINS ARE CLASSIFIED ACCORDING TO THE SPLENDID WORK BY M. ERNEST BABELON, OF PARIS, DES MONNAIES DE LA REPUBLIQUE ROMAINE.

A FEW WORDS ON THE DENARIUS.

"This coin," says Stevenson, "derived its appellation a denis assibus (from ten asses), for which it used to be exchanged, weighing a pound each, as they did at the time when silver first began to be coined at Rome, namely, in B.C. 269. According to Pliny it was established that the denarius should be given in exchange for ten pounds of brass, the quinarius for five pounds and the sestertius for two pounds and a half.

In B.C. 217 when the As was reduced in weight to one ounce, it was established that the denarius should be given in exchange for sixteen asses, the quinarius for eight, the sestertius for four." Various writers have compared the denarius to Greek drachms in their relative value, and indicate that the two coins had about the same value and weight. Under the successors of Augustus they were reduced far below their original weight. The principal types of the Family Roman denarii are those bearing the helmeted head of Rome and a quadriga on the reverse. Mr. Ackerman, a well known English numismatic writer, quoting from St. Matthew, where we find in the twentieth chapter and fifth verse the words "a penny a day", observes, "the penny here mentioned was the denarius which, at the time of our Lord's ministry was equivalent in value to about seven pence half penny (15 cents in U. S. money) of our (English) money. With the decline of the Roman Empire, the denarius was by degrees debased, and the later Emperors who issued them sometimes plated copper over with tin or silver to make them pass for the origintl denarii. "This reduction went on, after the division of the empire, until the denarius, once a beautiful medalet, became a coin of very inferior execution, low relief, and reduced thickness and weight. The term denarius is yet preserved in our (English) notation of pounds, shillings and pence by L. S. D." In olden times in England "a penny a day" appears to have been "the pay of a field laborer; whilst among the Romans (see Tacitus Abb. lib. 1. c. 17) the daily pay of a soldier was a denarius!"

So there is nothing new under the sun and history repeats. The coin referred to in St. Matthew by Jesus Christ was the denarius of Tiberius, one of which may be found in perfect preservation in this collection. The following collection of denarii is the largest and finest ever offered in the United States.

JULIUS CAESAR.

Undoubtedly one of the very greatest men in all history. He was descended from Ascanius, otherwise called Iulus, son of Aeneas. He was the son of I. Julius Caesar (praetor) and born about B.C.100. His mother took an affectionate interest in him and he was greatly attached to her.

At as early an age as 22 he was considered an orator second only to Cicero and his early life was filled with most important events and experiences. He was sent as Questor to Spain, and on seeing the effigy of Alexander the Great he shed tears. In B.C. 69. Cicero and M. Antony being consuls he was elected or declared Pontifex Maximus. During the years 51 and 50 he conquered Gaul. In the war with Pompey he passed the Rubieon and drove Pompey with the Consuls into Greece. He passed into Rome. After his victory in Thessaly, in B.C.48, he was elected, or created, Dictator for a whole year, an honour which was every year renewed. He followed Pompey into Egypt and found him dead. There he fell under the snare of Cleopatra VII and undertook a war with her brother Ptolemy, with a view of giving her sovereignty over Egypt. He took Alexandria and put Ptolemy to death. Then he gave Egypt into the hands of Cleopatra. Appointed Perpetual Dictator (See his coins for this famous inscription DICT. PERP.) for the fifth time, with Marc Antony as his consular colleague, while planning a campaign against the Getae and Parthians he was assassinated in the Senate house in the "Ides of March" (See Denarius of Brutus—Rx. Poinards, cap (of liberty) and EID MAR) by a conspiracy of republicans, originated and carried out by Brutus and Cassius, dying in the 56th year of his age. Stevenson says of him he was "A man, above all others, marvelously accomplished in the arts of both peace and war; one that whom antiquity cannot produce a more distinguished example. Noble and commanding in person, of lofty stature and fair complexion, his black eyes were piercing, and his whole countenance replete with expression. At the close of his career he carried with him something which vexed him greatly, a bald head. He was delicate in constitution but followed temperance in eating and drinking. He possessed a wonderful intellect, expressed somewhat in his "Commentaries." All our college boys are familiar with them especially the noted fifteenth chapter of his "Gallic Wars." He fought fifty pitched battles, and by his personal bravery has said to have on several occasions turned the tide of battle. He was moreover very merciful to the conquered, even granting them honors on occasions. Stevenson says his good fortune never deserted him. He had an ambition to attain the empire of the world. His ambition led him to attack and conquer nations simply for conquest's sake. Finally he turned his arms against his fellow countrymen and won his last honors at the point of the sword. His coinage is numerous and covers a varied and most interesting series, the following of which are good examples.

The Celebrated "Eid Mar" Denarius.

140. 712 Remarkable portrait bust of Brutus to r, naked style. BRVT. IMP. L. PLANET. CEST. Rx. A cap between two daggers, blades downward, EID MAR. Only around a dozen known examples. From the collection of J. Du Lac (Rollin & Fuerdent, Paris, May 12, 1910). Extremely fine. Priced by Cohen at 350 Francs, and his number 15. Plate. See also Stevenson, page 145, illustration; also Babelon 52.

Note:—Stevenson refers to this remarkable and exceedingly rare coin as a "numismatic monument", for it "was the instrument of transmitting a record to the most distant posterity." Eckhel in describing it begins—"En pugiones, & c,"observe the daggers employed in the perpetration of so fell a murder brought before our eyes, on this coin, weapons, which, under the specious pretext of liberty, Brutus hesitated not to stain with the blood of that Caesar, to whom personally he owed so much; in the same deed a patriot and a cut-throat. We have the statement of Dion Cassius that this denarius was struck by order of Brutus himself, & described by himself as follows "And also on the coins, which he caused to be struck, he exhibited a likeness of himself, and a cap and two daggers; intimating by this type, and by the legend, that conjointly with Cassius, he had restored his country to Liberty." The inscription EID MAR, indicates the fatal day, the ides of March, on which the bloody deed was done—. The above testimony of Dion decides the question as to who it was that caused this denarius to be struck; and the time was that at which Brutus passed into Asia to join Cassius, after having rendered himself master of Macedonia and a part of Greece." Stevenson describes the two or three examples known to him, and states that as early as 1848 this noted coin brought over 10 pounds sterling; and in another instance over 15 pounds.'' He reminds his readers also that these prices are ridiculously low for perhaps the most noted historical coin of antiquity. The cataloguer figures also that if the two or three known examples at that time brought 15 pounds, their sheer commercial value at the present ought to be six or seven times those sums

Page 189. of this this coin and of C. Cassius, Stevenson says that the lituus and sacrificial vase on the reverse refer to the augural priesthood of Lentulus Spinter, who after the murder of the Dictator, openly declared himself a partisan of the conspirators. Cassius came of one of the most distinguished families in Rome and was one of the assassins of Caesar.

AUGUSTUS.

Adopted son and heir of Julius Caesar and first Emperor of Rome, the title conferred on him B.C. 27 by the Roman Senate, in acknowledgement of his services to his country. Born 63 B.C. In B.C. 42 he defeated Brutus and Cassius at Philippe, being aided by M. Antonius. In B.C. 40 he gained a decisive naval victory over Sextus Pompey. In B.C. 35 Octavianus quarelled with M. Antonius, who had divorced his sister Octavia and married Cleopatra VII of Egypt. Having assembled under his banner all the legions of the East, he attacked and totally defeated his former colleague and only formidable rival in a sea fight near Actium. In B.C. 30 he proceeded with an army into Egypt and captured Alexandria. Mark Antony and Cleopatra then committed suicide, leaving Augustus sole master. For these victories the Roman Senate made him Imperator. He died in A.D. 14, in the 76th year of his age.

Exceedingly rare, one of the most precious of Roman denarii. Cohen rates it at 100 Francs, worth much more today. To show the rarity of this issue, Cohen only lists 15 pieces, or varieties of his coins altogether. He reigned but 66 days and, like Pertinax, was assassinated. He bought power by promises to the soldiers, but did not "make good" and they made away with him. Fine. Plate.

30. 831 (A.D. 180-94). Pescennius Niger. Bearded head to right. IMP. CAES. C. PESCEN. NIGER. IVST. AV. Rx. Fortune standing. (FORTV)NAE REDVCI. Part of reverse lettering off, due to small flan. Cohen 28. Extremely fine and sharp otherwise. Cohen rates it at 250 Francs which makes it next in rarity to the celebrated EID MAR in this collection. This coin shows a wonderful portrait of this emperor. Niger was declared Emperor in Syria in A.D. 193. A good soldier, but no statesman, he could not secure the power; was put to death as a rebel in A.D. 194. Plate.

29. 832 Pescennius Niger. Another, different from preceding. Bust r. IMP. CAES. C. PESCEN NIGER. IVSTI AV. Rx. Mars marching and carrying a trophy. MARTI VICTORI. A variety of Cohen No. 52. (listed at 200 francs). Very fine. Excessively rare and seldom seen in any condition. Plate.

Note.—Of this emperor, whose coinage is so large and varied, a word; He was the son of Valerian by his first wife. Emperor with his father, A.D. 253. Assassinated 268. A contemptible character. It was during this reign that so many generals declared themselves emperors, and these are designated as "The Thirty Tyrants.". He was killed while besieging in Milan the new competitor, Aureolus, being assassinated by conspirators in his 50th year. Every vice imaginable was charged to him. It is to be noted that from the reign of Septimus Severus to Gallienus the silver standard was reduced. The above and the others following of Gallienus are billon, copper, or bronze plated with silver.

Note.—He was the son of Constantius Chlorus and Helena. Was Caesar in 306 and Augustus in Britain. In 311 he embraced the Christian religion, and became sole emperor in A.D. 323. Quitted Rome for Byzantium in 330, which he named Constantinople. He died 337. He evidently suffered from an exaggerated ego, judging by some of his acts and the so-called "visions" he imagined he saw while traveling along with his army. One of these was his "discovery" of the PX sign, or seal of Christ. As a matter of fact numismatists have proven he borrowed this PX vision from Ptolemy III or the early Bactrian Kings, as this monogram is clearly seen on their coins of several hundred years previous to his time. In fact we have them in this very sale. His "In Hoc Signo Vinces" and his PX visions were truly "dreams."

Excepting for slight pitting in places in obverse field a fine example, the reverse quite fine. Cohen No. 34. (Cohen valued it at 200 Francs, so it is one of the rarest of all Roman bronze coins). Excessively rare. Plate.

Note.—This emperor reigned only 87 days, in consequence of his firmness in insisting upon reforms in the army and state. He was assassinated.

22.50 1086 Didius Julianus. Head to right, bearded. IMP CAES M.DID SEVER IVLIAN AVG. Rx. Fortune standing to left. P.M.T.R.P.COS S.C. See Cohen P. 400, No. 12. Fine. Ex. Rare. Cohen lists only 15 numbers under Didius Julianus so their rarity may be imagined. Assassinated after a reign of only 66 days. Plate.

10.00 1087 (A.D. 193). Manlia Scantilla, wife of Didius Julianus. Head to r. MANLIA SCANTILLA AVG. Rx. Juno standing l. IVNO REGINA). Inscription except S.C. o: reverse. Type of Cohen 3. Cohen lists only two varieties of first bronzes for this empress, so their rarity may be judged. She had a brief reign as Julianus was soon assassinated and her honors were taken away from her and she died in obscurity. Good. Plate.

1.25 1088 Clodius Albinus. Head to r. D.CLOD SEPT ALBIN CAES. Rx. Felicty stands to left holding sceptre and caduceus. FELICITAS COS II. Fine, patinated. Very rare thus. Cohen 16. Plate.

Note.—Married Gordian III in A. D. 241. "Young beautiful and intelligent," says Stevenson, she graced—the illustrious elevation to which Gordian had raised her. She survived her murdered husband, but her lot in life afterwards remains without record. Of this Empresses coins there were but few in bronze, and none in gold. The silver and first and second brass are of the highest rarity. She is styled, as on the above coin: Sabina Tranquillina, CAB TPANKTAAEINA.

Note.—This ruler was the eldest son of Maxentius and of the daughter of Gal. Maximianus, born about A.D. 306. Little is known of him. He was declared Caesar by his father when he had completed his first year, and Augustus a short time after; and dying in A.D. 309 his father placed him in the rank of the gods, all his coins being struck in honor of his consecration. An unique gold medallion exists of this boy. On the reverse is a temple having on its top an eagle with spread wings, with the motto AETERNAE MEMORIA. Neither Mionnet nor Echkel knew the meaning of the words NVBIS CONS., which appear on the above coins.

MAGNA URBICA AND NIGRINIANUS.

5. 1392 (A.D. 275?). Magna Urbica, (supposed wife of Carinus). Head to r. MAGNIA VRBICA AVG. Rx. Venus standing to the left, holding sceptre and globe. VENVS CELEST. In Exergue, SXXI. Extremely fine. Cohen 9. Ex. Rare. First in these sales. Plate.

5. 1393 Smaller head to r. MAGN VRBICA AVG. Rx. Venus standing to left holding sceptre and globe (or trophy), VENVS VICTRIX. Ex. C. Cohen 17. Exceedingly rare, about Uncirculated. Plate.

Note.—Of this obscure empress Stevenson says "Magna Urbica whose coins in every metal are extremely rare, has by some been ascribed as the wife of Maxentius, by others of Magnentius or Decentius; by others again of Carus and Numerianus; but Khell and Eckhel assign her to Carinus."

5. 1394 Nigrinianus. Head to right. DIVO NIGRINIANO. Rx. Eagle standing with open wings CONSECRATIO MM. KAA (Carthage?). Cohen 3. Of excessive rarity and fine. Plate.

Note.—A youthful radiated head appears on the above coin. Stevenson says the third brass coins are of great rarity, coupled with the appellation of DIVUS. The type of the gold coin is a funeral pile with a biga placed on the summit. History makes no mention of Nigrinianus, who is known only by the coins above alluded to. Tristan supposes him to have been the son of the tyrant Alexander, who reigned in Africa during the time of Maxentius. Other writers state he was a son of Carinus, and with much probability Arria Nigrina for his mother. He apparently died during his youth and these coins were issued as a memorial. Both Eckhel and Mionnet quote the gold coins from the museum of Saxe-Gotha.

THE WASHINGTON COINS AND TOKENS.

Mr. Crosby states little is known of the origin of these coins. However the letters "T.W.I." (Thomas Wyon) give a pretty sure clue, seen on one of the Liberty and Independence cents of 1783. There is more evidence of the English origin of most of these pieces. On the W. & J. Taylor card, bearing on one side a kangaroo, and offered below, the reverse of the Washington small bust cent of 1783 is used. Taylor also had a card with the same seated figure on the reverse but with no reference to the United States. The one reading UNITY STATES is said to have been executed in France by someone who had little knowledge of our language or institution, as the simple word UNITY has been misused. The following will be found a most interesting lot in remarkably fine condition, most of them got by Mr. Miller in England, and three very rare pieces are included.

1 50 1668 1783. Cent. Bust l. WASHINGTON & INDEPENDENCE—1783. Rx. ONE CENT in wrth. Legend: UNITY STATES OF AMERICA; below 1/100. Fine. An interesting fact is the first use here of the fraction seen on so many of our early U. S. Cents, 1/100.

1 50 1668a Another, very fine.

2 75 1670 1783. Smaller bust in military dress, to l, same reading and date. Rx. Similar to last, but letters T.W.I. etc. below figures, and cap do not touch A in States. Uncirculated, glossy brown. Plate.

4 50 1671 1783. Smallest of all the busts to left, same reading and date. The obverse die broken through I in INDEPENDENCE through head, etc. down to lower border between date and WASHINGTON. Rx. Similar to last, but a different die, the cap touching both T and A in STATES. Ex. F. Plate.

PENNSYLVANIA HALF PENCE AND FARTHINGS.

Commonly known as "Bungtowns." Made in England in Imitation of Various European and English coins, bearing chiefly the heads of George II and III. Some are satirical or humorous in type and inscription. The series has been treated by both Messrs. Crosby Atkins and L. H. Low. The following is one of the largest collections, and one of the finest, ever offered in American sales. They circulated largely among the early German colonists in the eastern part of the state, in fact the cataloguer has hardly met with a single example in Western Pennsylvania, where he resided for many years. And a good many of them never left England. On July 14, 1781, Joseph Reed, President of the Supreme Executive Council of the Commonwealth, issued a proclamation stating that "divers ill-disposed persons have manufactured or imported into this State quantities of base metal, in the similitude of British half pence, but much inferior in value and weight to genuine British half pence to the great depreciation of that coin, the injury of the community in general, and the poor in particular—and we have, therefore, thought proper to prohibit, and do hereby strictly enjoin all officers—not to receive such base coin in any payments whatsoever—and do earnestly recommend to all the faithful inhabitants of this State to refuse it in payment—and to make due inquiry after offenders in the premises, that they may be brought to speedy and condign punishment." Mr. A. R. Frey, a well known writer on numismatic topics, in his Dictionary of Numismatic Terms, states in speaking of the word "Bungtown," that it is a name given to clumsy imitations of the English half pennies, which circulated extensively in Pennsylvania and other states in the latter part of the eighteenth century. The name is probably derived from the slang term 'to bung—meaning to cheat or deceive' ".

NOTES ON THE COINAGES OF NEW JERSEY.

"On the 19th of November, 1681" says, Crosby, "there arrived in New Jersey a party of emigrants from Dublin, Mark Newby and his family being among them. Newby lived on the farm an Newton, since owned by Jos. B. Cooper, Esqr., where many of the St. Patrick half pence have been plowed up. Newby brought with him a quantity of those pieces known as St. Patrick's Half Pence which, owing to the scarcity of small money there, were, in the ensuing May, made current in that State under certain conditions expressed in the act by which they were authorized —. The date and origin of these pieces are enveloped in mystery, and various opinions have been expressed upon these coins. Evelyn an old numismatic writer gave the first published account of them in 1697, thinking them Irish coins.

Bishop Nicholson placed them among the coins of Charles I; another expressed the opinion that 'they were struck in the time of Charles I by the Papists, when they rebelled in Ireland and massacred the Protestants." They were struck also in rare cases in silver, the cataloguer having had examples in that metal.

As to later coinage, we note that by enactment of a law for the establishment of a copper coinage, in June, 1786, Walter Mould, Thomas Goadsby and Albion Cox, were authorized to strike and coin in copper, for that stated sum to the value of ten thousand pounds, at fifteen coppers to the shilling—the coppers to be of pure copper and of the weight of six pennyweight and six grains. There were two mints in the state, one located at Morristown and the other at Elizabethtown. Walter Mould was an Englishman, who had been employed at minting coins in Birmingham, England. In the coinage of the New Jersey coins a screw with a long lever was used. This information is positive as Mr. Lewis Condict saw the mint in operation. Mr. Bushnell wrote in 1855 from Morristown, describing the mints and stated that they were then standing. Mr. Bushnell further stated that a Mr. Hatfield claimed to have made dies and coined New Jersey Coppers in a barn, below Elizabethtown, in striking which he was assisted by a negro—Mr. Bushnell presented an affidavit (copy) signed by one John Bailey stating he "had not made any New Jersey coppers after April 15th, 1788" indicating he had made some before that. Dr. Maris has treated this subject at length in his work on the cents of New Jersey, and has illustrated most of the coins. His book is referred to in the classifying of the following collection, made by Mr. Miller.

COPPER COINS OF NEW JERSEY.

Mark Newby Half Penny and Farthing.

1730 Half Penny. Obv. a crowned king facing to left, playing the harp. Above the harp a crown . FLOREAT REX. Rx. St. Patrick with trefoil in his right hand and a crozier in his left, surrounded by a crowd of people. At his left is a shield charged with three castles, (on some resembling six flaming altars) ECCE GREX (no punctuation on the reverse side. For this rare coin very fine. Evidently struck in very soft copper so that it rarely comes above good condition. See Crosby Plate III, No. 8, but this example differs in having no period before ECCE. Plate.

1 75 1731 Farthing. Similar type, FLOREAT: REX: Rx. St. Patrick stands holding a crozier, driving snakes and reptiles before him; behind him a church, the cross on steeple just touching S. QUIESCAT: PLEBS: Fine. See Pl. III. No. 9. Fine. Plate.

Note.—Crosby mentions 22 dies of the obverse, and 23 of the reverse, so this variety must have been plentifully struck, although it is far from common at the present time.

1 10 1732 Another, different die, crozier being distant from lettering. Good.

CONNECTICUT.

THE HIGLEY OR GRANBY COINS.

Three Pences.

Struck by John Higley, of Granby, Connecticut, in rude black-smith fashion from copper mined on the premises, in the years 1737-9. Among the most celebrated of the American Colonial coins. Messrs S. H. Chapman, J. C. Mitchelson, and the cataloguer visited the mine and handled the ore.

4.0 1799 Obv. A deer standing to the left; III beneath him. VALVE. ME. AS. YOU. PLEASE. Rx. Three crowned hammers. I. AM. GOOD. COPPER.—1737. Cr. P. 324. No. 66. Very fair. Exceedingly rare. Plate.

70 1799a 1737. Another. A deer standing to the left. THE VALVE. OF. THREE. PENCE. Rx. Three crowned hammers. CONNECTICVT. 1737. Good, with some surface erosion as usual. Exceedingly rare. Plate. C. P. 66. VIII 17.

250 1799b 1737. A deer standing to the left. VALVE. ME. AS. YOU. PLEASE.; III beneath the deer's feet. Rx. A broad axe to the left. J. CUT. MY. WAY. THROUGH. Extremely fine. Excessively rare. See Crosby Pl. VIII. 24. The finest known Granby III Pence. Much finer than Crosby's illustrated piece. Plate.

Note.—The example I sold in the Gschwend sale in 1907 for $275 was not as fine a piece as this, especially as regards the striking and flan of it.

70 1799c 1737. Three Pence. Same type as last, but a variety, seen in the letters of the word PLEASE. In this example the letter I is more distant from P than in the foregoing example, and it differs from any shown in Crosby's plates, the letters in the word PLEASE being widely separated from each other. Very fair. Exceedingly rare, the obverse might be termed good. Plate.

NOTES ON THE LATER COINAGES OF CONNECTICUT.

In October, 1785, we read in Crosby's Early Coins of America, authority was granted to Samuel Bishop, Joseph Hopkins, James Hillhouse and John Goodrich to establish a mint for coining coppers "not to exceed in amount of Ten Thousand Pounds lawful money in Value of the standard British Half Pence, to weigh six penny weight, and to bear the following impression or Stamp (Viz.) a man's head on the one side with Circumscription in the Words or Letters following, (Viz) AVCTORI: CONNEC: and on the other side the Emblem of Liberty with an olive branch in her hand with a circumscription in the Words and Figures following (Viz) INDE: ET. LIB: 1785: "— these men to pay into the Treasury of this State, at the end of every six months, one twentieth part of all Coppers by them coined or Manufactured at said Mint" etc. "The Hon. Henry Meigs, late of New York, deceased, informed me (Mr. Bushnell) in 1854 that the Connecticut coins were made in a building situated under the Southern Bluff, near the centre of the north shore of the harbor, in New Haven," etc. The building was a small frame house, and he thinks was painted red. Mr. Broome superintended the mint, not more than three of the employees were seen at work at one time. Both members of the firm would sometimes distribute some of the coins among the boys, among whom was my informant. The coins were struck by means of a powerful iron screw."

CONNECTICUT CENTS FOR YEARS 1785-88.

Especial interest attaches to the splendid collection of Connecticut Cents which follows, because Mr. Henry Clay Miller had completed, just before his death, an exhaustive and detailed description of these pieces. This work, together with similar articles on the state coinages of Vermont and Massachusetts by Mr. Hillyer Ryder is being published by The American Numismatic Society as Part I of Volume 53 of the American Journal of Numismatics. This book will be invaluable to collectors of these important eries and, by stimulating their collection will greatly enhance their value.

(The Elder Coin & Curio Company offers this new work of Mr. Miller on the Coins of Connecticut, For Sale for $3.00 per copy).

The Following is the Finest Collection of Connecticut Cents Ever Offered at Auction Sale. The parenthesis numbers refer to Mr. Miller's varieties.

CONSIGNMENTS SOLICITED FOR SALE IN NEW YORK.

In our new store, located on the ground floor in the elite shopping district of New York, we find ourselves well equipped to catalogue and dispose of your collection, or duplicates, to the best possible advantage. The prices are holding well and we reach a very large clientele in all parts of both the United States and Canada. We send out from 1100 to 1200 catalogues of each sale to live collectors, which include many of the larger and more important collectors, and some unknown to any other dealer in the country. In this way we are enabled to reach a great variety of collectors, with the best possible results to yourself. Our sales date from 1903, covering a period of over 16 years, and we have been in business since 1898, over twenty years. Some of our sales include, the Gschwend (1907), total $9,200; James B. Wilson (1908), total $12,600; the Mougey (1910), almost $21,000; the Woodin (1911), almost $17,000, and the Miller Sale, total about $11,000. This shows we can handle sales of all sizes without difficulty. Write us for terms. New York, the greatest city in America, is none the less great as a coin selling market. Communicate with us for further particulars, or send on your collections addressed as below. Our sales up to this time number around 200.
